

23rd January 2012, a date that the people who took part in the Comenius project "faster" won't forget easily!

"Fight against stereotypes", the aim of this project...

you can't understand the right sense of this sentence without living this experience directly.

We arrived in Greece with certain opinions about foreign countries but, we must confess we based ourselves simply on "hearsay".

While living this experience we learnt to know one another and we got the aim.

A heartfelt thanks for the hospitality that Greek people showed us, welcoming us in their school and, for a short time, in their lives.

Thanks to the principal and the teachers of the school who kept even their cars at our disposal and for the huge amount of patience that they showed waiting for us every time.

Finally, last but not least, to the Esperia hotel that accommodated us and offered us their services.

Maybe this letter can't thank all of you in an adequately way and, maybe, a simple "thanks" isn't enough, but this is what we can, at present, do. So, THANKS!
